

FOR WEBSITE

Filmmaker and artist

Films:

Soil Story - \(2025\)

Include stills

Link to website

Spread in group hug (?) maybe

Picture of installation

Description:

Soil Story is a 16mm film, combining found foliage and an experimental approach to the film developing process that is in collaboration with the environment. The film explores the juxtaposing histories and memories of the Ridgewood Reservoir and the Cemetery Belt. Two locations that straddle each other with the Jackie Robinson parkway cut in between. With both locations in conversation with each other, we explore the cycles of time, space, memory and land development and disposal.

Screenings:

Science New Wave Film Festivals (2025)

Soil and Sound Waves at the Rockaways (2025)

Urban Soils: Soil Symposium (2025)

Seeing things, Dreaming things - \(2021\)

Include a few stills

Description:

Seeing things, Dreaming things*, is a personal documentary that explores memories and dreams, in an effort to organize these subjective and personal experiences into something more logical and concrete.

Filmed on 16mm film and Hi-8 Tape. Created by Olivia Acuña, Editing by Phillip Thompson

Altar Piece - Cinematographer/Producer/Colorist \(2025\)

Include stills

Description:

The Holy Mary amidst ongoing traffic. A basement of deities with the light on 24/7. A collection of trash, or so it seems.

“Altar Piece” explores Ridgewood, Queens, through the altars and shrines that ornament the neighborhood. While some are more recognizable in form than others, these objects are brought together with a considered touch.

I Dream in Color - Cinematographer (2021)

Include stills

Description:

When an archetypal 1950's woman is unsettled by her existence as a housewife, she escapes into a fantasy realm of art and freedom; in spite of her apathetic husband.

A narrative short directed by Madison DeCory.

Cinematographer- Olivia Acuña

Screenings:

In Love, In Time - Cinematographer (2019)

Include stills, link to film and description + accolades

Description:

In Love, In Time*, follows a narrative of a woman who is in two different relationships during two periods of her life, but the emotions that the relationships produce are the same. The film is meant to explore the idea of relationship dependency amongst youth, and one's identity solely being tied to another.

Directed by Philip Thompson, Cinematography by Olivia Acuna

16mm

Screenings:

Life Screenings International Short Film Festival

Love Actually International Storyteller Showcase

On Art - Poland

—

Production Design:

I'm at Home (2021) - Production designer

Stills and link to NoBudge + description

<https://www.nobudge.com/im-at-home>

Description:

The host of a children's television show starts experiencing burnout after needing to force creativity every day. "I'm At Home," directed by and starring Philip Thompson, is a lo-fi vision of artistic fatigue that starts off all smiles before beginning to disintegrate.

Living in reality (2023) - Production Designer

Stills and link to NoBudge + description

<https://www.nobudge.com/living-reality>

Art/Photographs:

Deer cyanotype x self portrait

Dead possum cyanotype photo w frame

Self portraits in woods

Cyanotype stop motion

The collector * still need to add these

Vampire portraits

Descriptions:

Self portraits and cyanotypes

The collector series (2019): I met Marie Sirakos in 2018, she owned an antique store at the time called the Vintage Industry. Marie is passionate about objects and knowing their history and where they came from. I asked her one day if I could come along with her to one of her "hunts." We arrived at Rick's house, it was a large property with multiple houses and spaces full of things he collected over the years. Rick had had a personal connection to everything and stories to go along with them.

Lesbian Vampire Portraits: This is an ongoing project I have been working on for a few years where I photograph my lesbian/queer friends as vampires.

About me// contact

Olivia Acuña is an interdisciplinary artist and filmmaker based in Brooklyn. Olivia is obsessed with the materiality of film and explores themes of memory, magical realism and the human condition within her work. Often working with 16mm film, analog equipment and experimenting with different processing techniques.

In 2025 Olivia took part in an 8 month artist residency at Union Docs, during this residency Olivia worked on two short documentaries Soil Story and Altar Piece. Soil Story premiered at the Science New Wave Film festival and as an installation piece at The Rockaway Soils festival and Urban Soils: Soil Symposium.

Currently, Olivia works as projectionist at Anthology Film Archives and as a Colorist at Metropolis Post. She also works freelance as a DP and colorist. She is also a programmer and Co-founder of Peace Centers micro cinema in BedStuy that showcases local and independent film monthly.

Inspo 90s/00s

I like the idea of having a similar look to this website ^ maybe the main image is the drawing that cam will do. Then some squares of images that take you to the film pages?

<https://bindii.com/v4index2.html#>